NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL INTELLIGENCE DIRECTIVE NO. 1*

BASIC DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Preamble: The intelligence effort of the United States in the interest of national security is a national responsibility, and must be so organized and managed as to exploit to the maximum the available resources in all participating departments and agencies and to satisfy the legitimate intelligence requirements of all such departments and agencies. For the purpose of coordinating the intelligence activities of the several Government departments and agencies ~~in the interest-of-national-security-and~~ pursuant to the provisions of Section 102 of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, the National Security Council hereby authorizes and directs that:

1. Over-all Coordination.

The Director of Central Intelligence shall coordinate the foreign intelligence activities effort of the United States, in accordance with existing law and applicable National Security Council directives. This shall include the coordination of all those aspects of intelligence, which, together, constitute the foreign intelligence effort of the United States.

*This directive supersedes NSCID No. 1, revised 4/21/50

 (footnote to item on following page) The intelligence community includes the Central Intelligence Agency; the Intelligence components of the Departments of State, Defense, Army, Navy and Air Force, and of the Joint Staff (JCS); the Federal Bureau of Investigation; the Atomic Energy Commission, and the National Security Agency. Other components of the departments and agencies of the Government are included to the extent of their agreed participation in regularly-established interdepartmental intelligence activities.

in connection with his duty to advise the National Security Council and to coordinate the intelligence effort of the United States; and

(5) Make arrangements with the departments and agencies for the assignment to, or exchange with the Central Intelligence Agency of such experienced and qualified personnel as may be of advantage for advisory, operational, or other purposes. In order to facilitate the performance of their respective intelligence missions, the departments and agencies concerned shall, by agreement, provide each other with such mutual assistance as may be within their capabilities and as may be required in the interests of the intelligence community for reasons of economy, efficiency, or operational necessity. In this connection primary departmental interests shall be recognized and shall receive mutual cooperation and support.

4. National Intelligence.

a. National intelligence is that intelligence which is required for the formulation of national security policy, and which concerns more than one department or agency, or and transcends the exclusive competence of a single department or agency. The Director of Central Intelligence shall produce* national intelligence with the support of the U. S. Intelligence Board. Intelligence so produced shall have the concurrence of those members of the U. S. Intelligence Board who have intelligence production responsibilities ~~within-the~~ substantive-area-of-the-intelligence-under-consideration, or shall carry a statement of any substantially differing opinion of such a member.

b. Departmental intelligence is that intelligence which any department or agency requires to execute its own mission.

c. Interdepartmental intelligence is integrated departmental intelligence which is required ~~in-the-interest~~ ~~of-national-security~~ or by departments and agencies of the Government for the execution of their missions, but which transcends the exclusive competency of a single department or agency. to produce. The Subcommittee structure of the U. S. Intelligence Board may be utilized for the production and dissemination of interdepartmental intelligence.

d. The Director of Central Intelligence shall disseminate national intelligence to the President, members of the National Security Council, members of the U.S. Intelligence Board and, subject to existing statutes, to such other components of the Government as the National Security Council may from time to time designate or the U S. Intelligence Board may recommend. He is further authorized to disseminate national intelligence and inter-departmental intelligence produced within the U. S. Intelligence Board structure on a strictly controlled basis to foreign governments and international bodies upon his determination with the concurrence of the U. S. Intelligence Board, that such action would substantially promote the security of the United States: Provided, That such dissemination is consistent with existing statutes and Presidential policy including that reflected in international agreements; and provided further that any disclosure of FBI intelligence information shall be cleared with that agency prior to dissemination. Departmental intelligence and interdepartmental intelligence produced outside the U. S. Intelligence Board subcommittee structure may be disseminated in accordance with existing statutes and Presidential policy including that reflected in international agreements.

* By "produce" is meant "to correlate and evaluate intelligence relating to the national security" as provided in the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, Section 102 (d) (3).

e. Whenever any member of the U. S. Intelligence Board obtains information which indicates an impending crisis situation which affects the security of the United States to such an extent that immediate action or decision by the President or the National Security Council may be required, he shall immediately transmit the information to the Director of Central Intelligence and the other members of the U. S. Intelligence Board as well as to the National Indications Center and to other officials or agencies as may be indicated by the circumstances. The Director of Central Intelligence shall, in consultation with the U. S. Intelligence Board, immediately prepare and disseminate as appropriate the national intelligence estimate of the situation, in accordance with the procedures outlined above.

5. Protection of Intelligence and of Intelligence Sources and Methods.

The Director of Central Intelligence, with the assistance and support of the members of the U. S. Intelligence Board, shall ensure the development of policies and procedures for the protection of intelligence and of intelligence sources and methods from unauthorized disclosure. Each department and agency, however, shall remain responsible for the protection of intelligence and of intelligence sources and methods within its own organization. Each shall also establish appropriate internal policies and procedures to prevent the unauthorized disclosure from
